

Numerical simulation of the 2D Euler equation using point vortices

Stephen Montgomery-Smith

University of Missouri

stephen@missouri.edu

Abstract

We will present details of a numeric solver to solve the 2D Euler equation using point vortices. The numerical software was incorporated into a screensaver available for Linux. It is intended that the talk will be accessible to graduate students. Pictures of the simulation are available here and here.